<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mcsbm7mZus>
- b. After adding server channels, add your server-id in whitelisted servers list located in settings.json -

- c. Add your discord user-id into the whitelisted-users list located in settings.json –

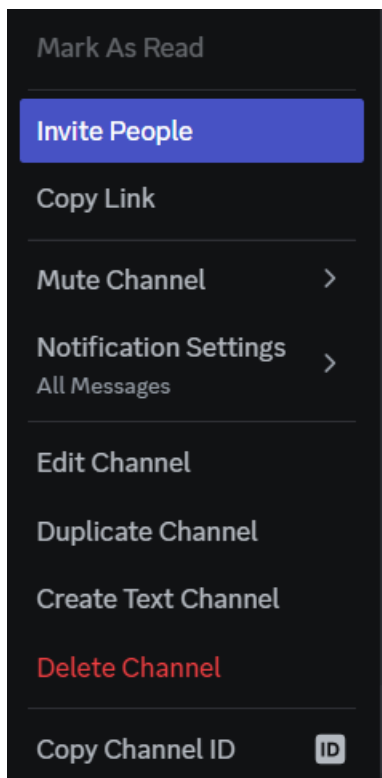

- d. For multiple servers – use a single bot prefix, possible to change prefix of your choice
- e. For multiple servers – you can use IP as the server code
- f. Add token ID, and previously mentioned discord user-id into the allowed-user-ids, and discord-server-id into the whitelisted servers list –

Mongodb :

Change the MongoDB database name. For example, the current database name is "default". You can choose any name you prefer, but avoid using spaces and special characters. Note that the database name is sensitive information, akin to a password. Do not share it with anyone, as your server ban list is connected to your database. Additionally, do not forget your database, as losing it could result in the loss of ban data. If you own multiple servers, maintain the same database name across all servers to ensure that players are banned universally.
